Washington, July 27.-American row, a note protesting against the blacklisting of American business firms under the Trading with the Enemy Act. In announcing today that the communication had been transmitted to London, Acting Secretary Polk said it discussed only the general principles of international law involved, without specifically taking up cases of individual firms blacklisted.

The note officially described at the department as "a protest" is said ausre to make it public next Monday.

While officials are reticent regarding details of the representations made, it was understood this government's view that illegal restrictions are imposed by the blacklist order on the freedom of American trade is set forth in vigorous terms. Some modification of the order, it is believed, is insisted upon. There have been indications that should diplomatic efforts fall to bring relief to affected American firms, some form of retailation would be considered by the United States.

Bar Harbor, Me., July 27.—The large steam yacht Wild Rose, about which some anxiety had been entertained, was riding safely at anchor in the bay today. She arrived during the night from Portland, which port she left on Saturday after a few hours' visit there. The yacht was delayed by fog and made slow progress along the coast.

The yacht was brought here from Jacksonville, Fla., for Thomas Dewitt Cuyler of New York, by whom she was chartered from a Jacksonville hotel proprietor. There was no one on board except the crew of five men. They had no unusual experiences except that they were obliged to spend considerable time at anchor in Penobscot bay.
